our school as . . .

A place to work

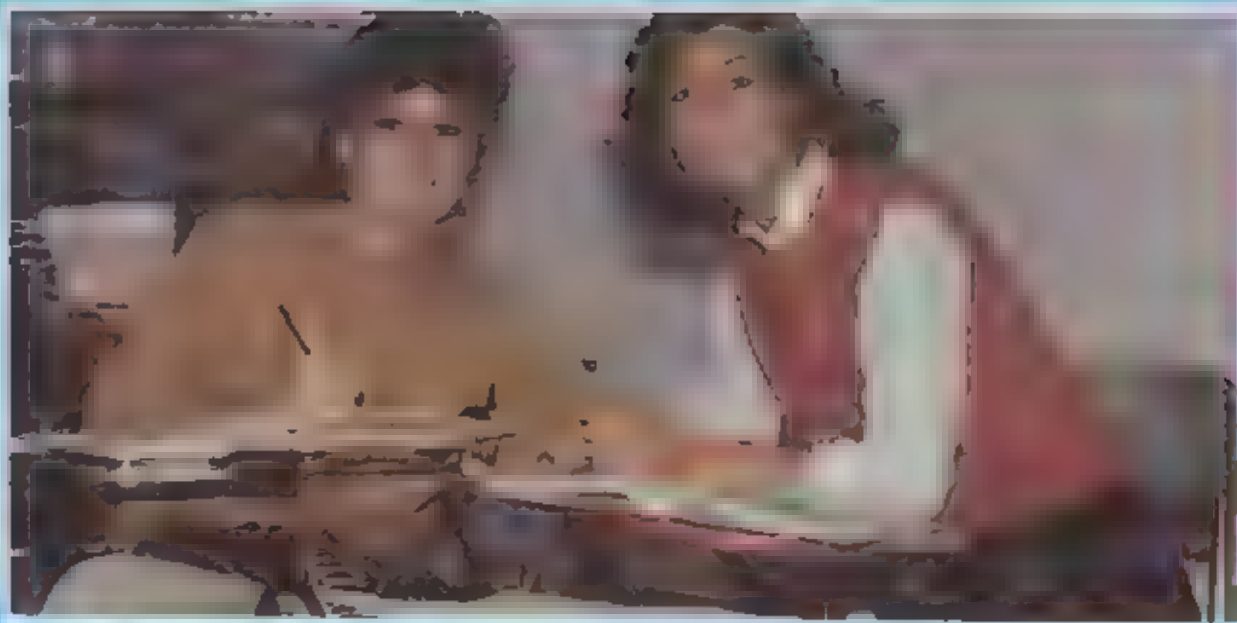

Sandburg students work hard to make every facet of the school successful. Every student and faculty member feels a certain pride when Sandburg wins an award because they know their hard work has been recognized. Every Thursday night before a home football or basketball game, Student Council and Pep Club decorate the school and athletes' lockers, recognizing the players' hard work and wishing them good luck.

Students not only work hard in athletics, but in many of the clubs at Sandburg. Club members work hard so their activities are fun for everyone. The International Festival is successful only because of the hard work and long hours put into its production. Club members' efforts are also evident in the many contests won by Science club, History club, and Mathletes.

Students also put effort into their own labors for personal success. With the many members of Carl Sandburg's chapter of the National Honor Society, it is evident that Sandburg's students work to accomplish their academic best.

A place to have fun

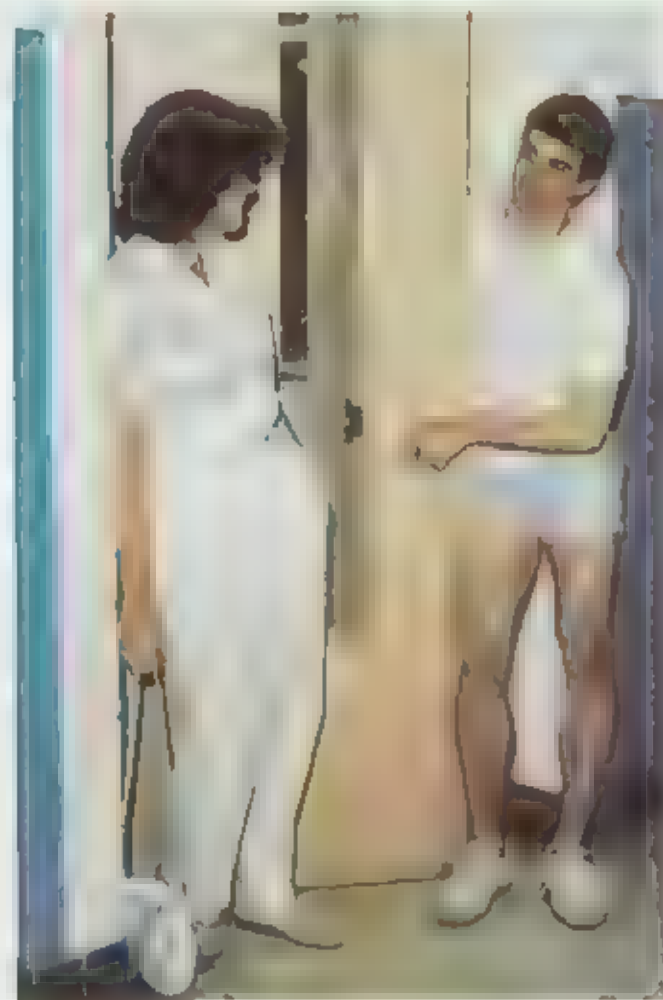

Sandwich is not only a place for work but a place for fun. From games to sock hops to Spirit Week, each event is planned in hopes that the students will participate and have fun.

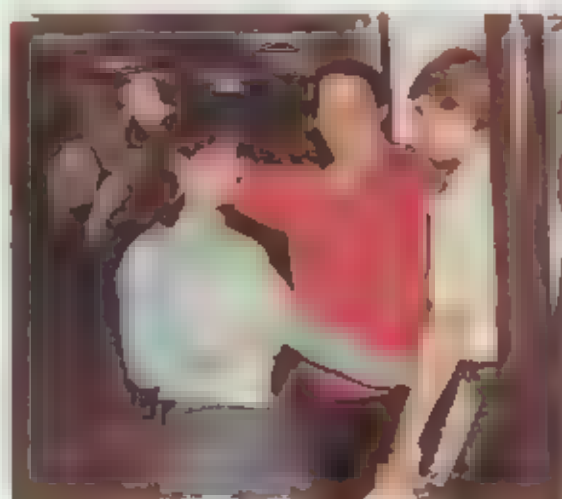

Think about the games. The fun starts in school with sales of buttons, beakers, pom-poms, blue and gold war paint, and candy. The pep assemblies too are geared to get everyone rowdy. The support from the cheerleaders, the sparkle of the Tagettes, the Loud Mouth competition, and the Badly vs. the Unknowns all keep the students moving and motivated for the game later that day. Finally, at the game, everyone is there cheering on the Eagles. Down to the last second, the excitement never stops. Even after the game, the fun never over. Sometimes one of the clubs sponsors a sock hop or party with food, music, and decorations.

Next think about Spirit Week. Slave Day lets the junior or senior be watered, and the football players are given a special shave. And on Friday, the day of the week, just about anything goes. Peck Day allows everyone to make their own wild Peck Day with skits, safety pins, and other ideas. First, it makes the day as peak as possible.

The extra activities seem to end the term, papers and math assignments remember that rest is on the way.

A place to meet people

Meet me by the pines after school.

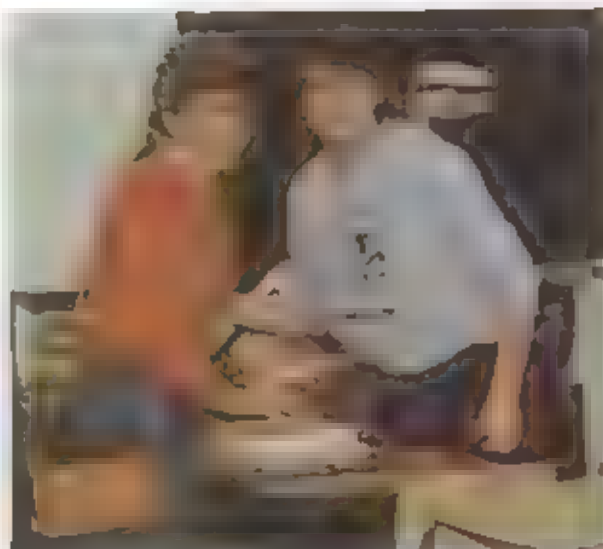

Long ago and many others like it can be heard daily at Sandburg. In the common ways to the main street by the pine etc. are all common meeting places where separated friends reunite after classes or before pep assemblies. Throughout the school the halls are filled with groups scattered at the many different spots where every day week and plans and friends network are discussed.

Although these groups are formed and related here at Sandburg there is always that one special friend you will remember forever. You stay together and are together every day together. You hope you may even meet together. You'll never part.

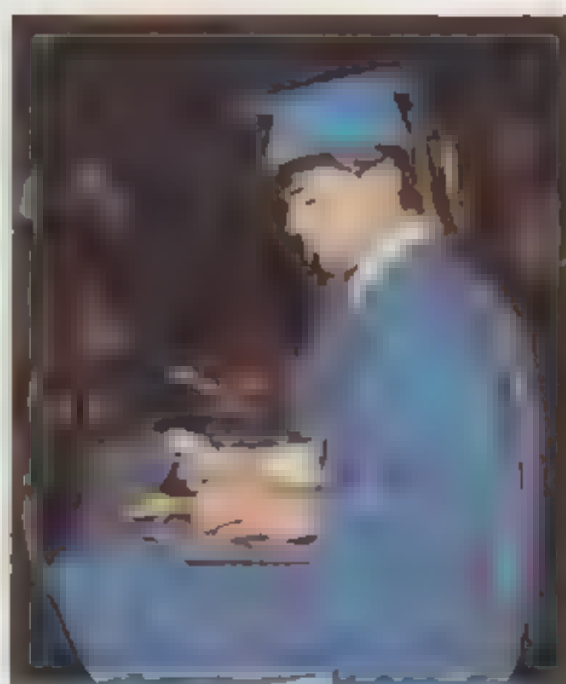

In addition to meeting your close friends you may also meet your first real love or at least get a good date. Those remote corners and dark stairways are often frequented by young couples who sometimes know all too well the consequences. The dreaded decision for P.D.A. (public display of affection). How do you explain that one to your mom and dad?

A place to grow

A place to achieve

person. Some students might feel maintaining a "C" average is an accomplishment, while others insist on straight "A's." To others, graduation is a principal goal.

An athlete's goals may differ from those of a scholar, but they are just as important. Scoring the winning point, obtaining letters for being on the team, or receiving a trophy for outstanding athletic achievement are all high points of an athlete's career.

The goals of an artist may include getting the lead role in the school play, perfecting a work of art, or receiving a request for an encore performance. The curtain calls, roses, applause, and standing ovations make the time and effort worthwhile.

Many of the students at Sandburg achieve not only one, but several of these goals. We recognize and salute every student for achieving his or her "personal best."

What have you achieved in high school? For many people the answer to this question is different. Every student tries to achieve a goal, whether it deals with academics, sports, or the arts.

The meaning of academic achievement is different for each

And sometimes a place to live

There are many times when students think there should be a motel added on to Sandburg.

Take, for example, The Athlete. T.A. has to get to school at 6:30 a.m., maybe 7:00. T.A. has to be here for early swim or zero hour. Then she/he goes through her/his regular seven hours of classes. Three o'clock time for A. to go to practice which lasts until at least 6:00 p.m. A. has spent a total of eleven hours a half of her/his day, at Sandburg. Let's assume, being an athlete, T.A. needs approximately eight hours of sleep. Let's figure something out. If $11 + 8 = 19$ (and I think it does) A. has five whole hours of free time, that is, if she/he never does homework. These are the only hours A. wouldn't spend in Hotel Sandburg.

T.A. is not the only person who would register in Hotel Sandburg, however. There is also A.A. (The Academic/Activities Person). A.A. starts her/his day off with zero hour also. A.A. then goes through the regular seven hours of school. A.A. or A.A. even has some club meeting to go to. At four, she/he jogs on over to the Post office to redo some layouts. Finally, it is 6:00 and time for play practice. At around ten, play practice is over, and A.A. stops at McDon alds on the way home for some dinner. By the time homework is finished, A.A. averages three hours of sleep.

These are only two examples, which don't even address the amount of time teachers spend here outside of school hours. They also don't consider the average student who comes back to school for sports events, activities, or occasional help with schoolwork. Perhaps Sandburg ought to consider adding a few beds to save these people the trouble of going home for just a few hours.

OF SENIORS

Many seniors consider their last year in high school one of the best of their lives. They become the leaders of the school, not only by participating in and taking charge of many activities, but by making their first mature decisions about life and career.

The first day of school starts out the same way for seniors as for every one else. The bus pulls up, students jostle each other in the halls, and no one's locker will open. When the first hour bell rings, however, the senior knows this year is different. The teacher starts the class with a talk about how responsible seniors are now and how seniors need to live up to their new stature.

After that first day of being bored by repetitive speeches, things get better. Seniors start to take charge of everything. They're the start of all the sports, presidents of all the clubs, have solos in band and choir, and help take charge of the plays. They also begin some serious thinking about the future.

The most anxious moments a senior spends are those dealing with THE FUTURE. Some student frantically run around filling out college applications, begging teachers to write recommendations, collecting money for college fees, and conducting an endless search for stamps. Other students travel from office to office or shop to shop applying for jobs ranging from receptionists to salespersons to computer programmers. Marriage is the happy choice of several seniors, while others choose to spend their first months of freedom traveling to far away places.

Eagles spear Spartans

Once again, Sandburg's Eagles defeated their homecoming opponents. This year Sandburg's Hitters smothered the Spartans of Oak Lawn by a score of 31-0. The offense completed pass after pass while the defense stopped touchdown after touchdown. John Kleckauskas scored the first touchdown on a 17 yd. run. Then Dee Stoneburner kicked a 34 yd. field goal. Our third score was a 28 yd. pass from Jeff Parisi to Tom De Vries. Then Tom scored on a 59 yd. touchdown from Jeff. In the third quarter we made our final touchdown on a 3 yd. run by Dee Stoneburner. After the game, the players felt their bumps and bruises but knew it didn't matter. The victory was the only thing that mattered. The crowds were as rowdy as ever, cheering the Eagles to victory. It was definitely an exciting evening for all Eagle fans!

Love is Homecoming 1984

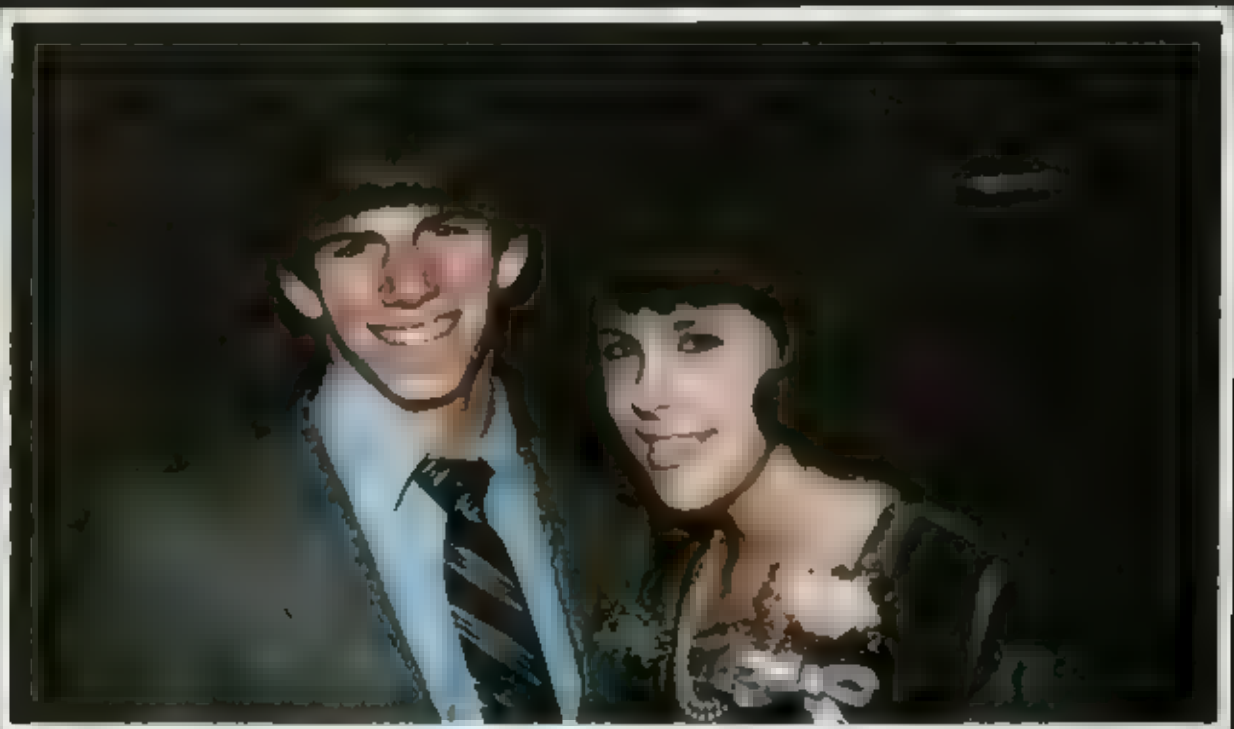

To sponsor the dance this year the Homecoming Committee sold giant cookies. The committee was also in charge of decorating the commons. Streamers, balloons, and the traditional bids adorned the commons and refreshments were served for those weary from dancing all night.

The Homecoming Court was chosen by the students, and the representatives were announced during the pep assembly. The senior class representatives were Denise Murphy and Donna Sniectanski. The representatives for the underclassmen were Linda Langowski - Junior, Debbie Vinke - Sophomore, and Donna Sniectanski - Freshman. The Homecoming Queen of 1984 was Pam Walsh.

Sandburg celebrates

On Tuesday, November 12, the Sandburg community celebrated the opening of the new Sandburg High School. The new school is a state-of-the-art facility with modern classrooms, a large gymnasium, and a new cafeteria. The school is named after the famous poet, Carl Sandburg, who was born in the area. The new school is a testament to the community's commitment to education and progress.

Teachers and students alike were excited to start the new school year. The new school is a testament to the community's commitment to education and progress. "I'll be there" Prom '84

I remember the Drive-By Truckers. My friend the father was a trucker. He was a veteran. It was a night of a trucker's partner. I think I remember the truck was going over a hill. It was a fast trip.
The trucker was a soldier. And I think the truck was a truck. The truck was a truck.
The truck was a truck. The truck was a truck.

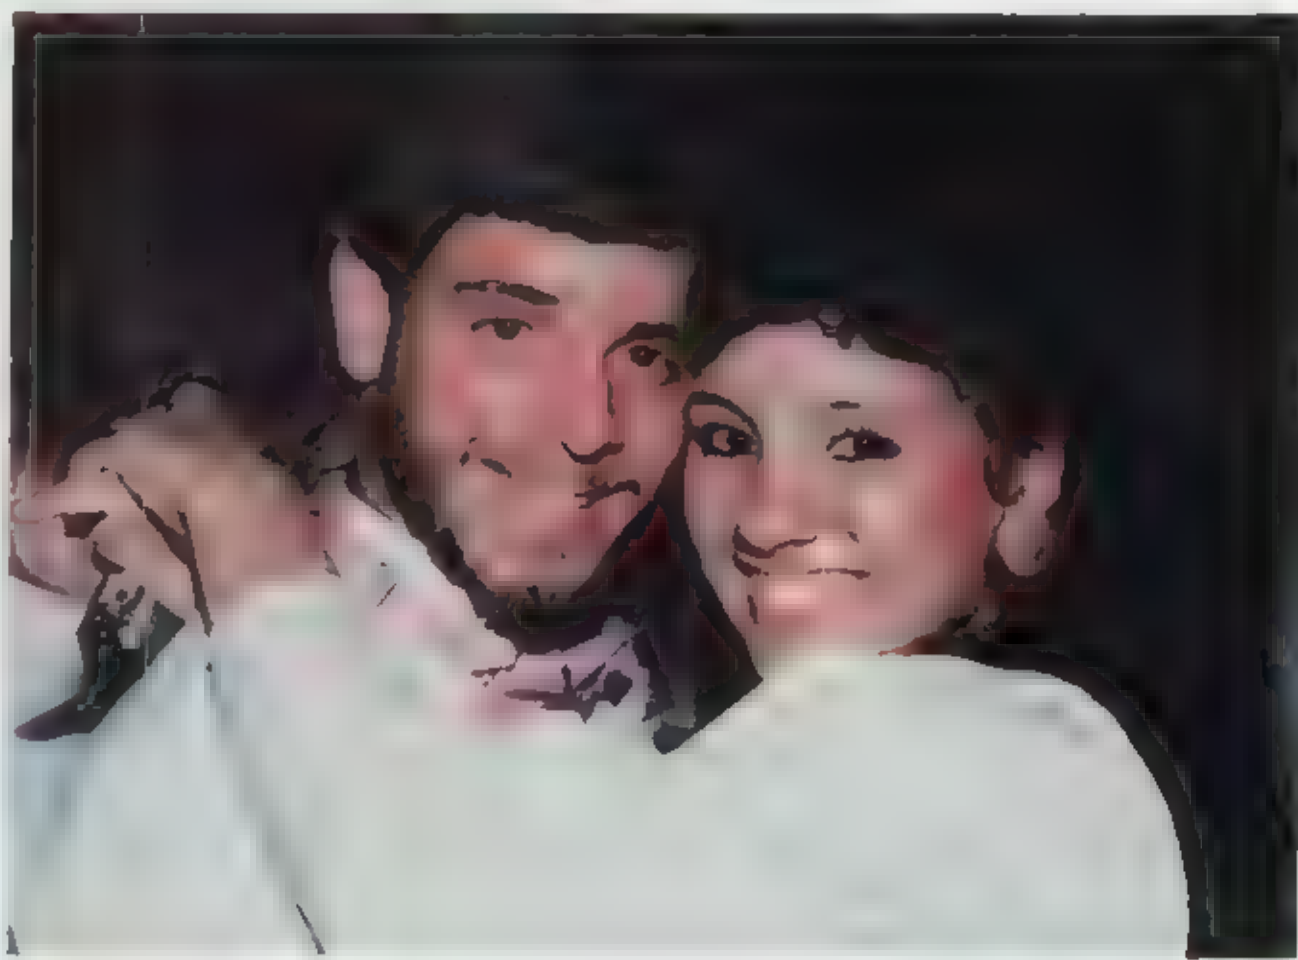

Afterward, the trucker was a trucker.
The trucker was a trucker. The trucker was a trucker.
The trucker was a trucker. The trucker was a trucker.
The trucker was a trucker. The trucker was a trucker.
The trucker was a trucker. The trucker was a trucker.

But even after that, the trucker was a trucker.

A night of thrills

Sandburg's spring dance of 1984 certainly was a "Thriller". Everyone had a good time dancing to Michael Jackson songs. The beat was so strong in fact that students who were caught up in the mood ended up dancing on the sets built for the spring musical. Eventually these platforms became stages for students to display their dancing abilities. The dance was a great success because it allowed students to go to a dance not only with a date, but if one wishes, he could go with a group of friends, or even a stag. This made the dance even more enjoyable for everyone involved. All together, the night was a success full of music and laughter.

Turnabout is a time for the girls to switch roles with the guys and ask them to the dance. This year's dance, appropriately titled "Girls Just Wanna Have Fun" got off to a great start with music supplied by the band "Movies and dancing."

Another switch from the traditional dance is the Turnabout King and his court. This year's winners were: Mike Frawley - King, Barry Panfil - Sr. Rep., Foti Chronopoulos - Jr. Rep., Dave Manson - Soph. Rep., and Paul Dravillas - Fresh. Rep.

Although Carl Sandburg's first Marathon Dance began to break up after about twelve hours, the many that attended felt it was a lot of fun

Marathon Dance

At the Halloween Dance students gathered together with their friends in an array of vibrantly colored costumes. They tripped the lights on the twenty seventh of October. One of the winners of the best costume contest was Frank Gray as a Hari Krishna.

Christmas around the World

The International Fest was held in the commons on December 1st. The festival included crafts, entertainment, and food with a foreign twist. Each club added at least one form of entertainment. Mimes and can-can girls were supplied by the French Club. Spanish Club helped with entertainment by providing their version of Menudo, Latin Club members performed in a play, and German Club members danced while their um-pah band played authentic German music.

Once selected for membership, a member contributes his or her talents to benefit Carl Sandburg High School and its surrounding communities. In the fall, we sponsor the M.S. Spelling Bee. Through a spelling test, the student body raises money for Multiple Sclerosis. We also co-sponsor the Spring Dance with Mu Alpha Theta in March. With our sister, school Stagg, our members have the opportunity to visit various colleges located in Illinois. Each year NHS undertakes a service project such as stocking the Orland Food Pantry for a month or two. Starting this year, the officers established an in-school tutoring service, available to any student who wishes to have help outside the classroom.

A Tribute to the Art in Fine Art

Winter one acts

In February, 1984, the winter one-acts were once again performed. These one-act plays are different from the fall and spring plays but only in length, but in direction. Students not only act, but take over much of the directing as well. This year's plays were Jug of Silver, by Truman Capote, directed and adapted by John Muldoon; The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell, adapted and directed by Jeff Pankow; and Millex, by Katherine Mansfield, adapted and directed by Dan Sackett.

Once again this fall Carl Sandburg's Drama Club put on an excellent show. This year's fall play A Midsummer Night's Dream was another successful play, filling the house all three nights. The costume design, make-up, hairstyles, set construction, lighting, and acting were as in the tradition of Sandburg's excellent theatre.

"The Music Man"

On Thursday, May 10, 1984, the curtain was pulled on Carl Sandburg's stage, and music radiated through the commons. This was it. It was opening night of Sandburg's spring musical, The Music Man. It was time to show all the hard work and effort cast members had put in the past three months. And, like always, the hard work did pay off. The three sell-out audiences were delighted by such numbers as "Seventy-six Trombones," "Till There Was YOU," "Goodnight My Someone," and many others. Not only did the audience applaud the singing and dancing, they applauded the set construction and the orchestra. Mr. Dan Sackett as play director and Mr. Robert Horton as orchestra directed collaborated to put on another winner.

Team places well in tournaments

Individuals earn top honors

Led by seniors Sandy Targosz, Michelle Chocholek, Bonnie Johnson, Siane Mical, and Bonnie West, the Varsity Cross Country team had another banner year. The highlight of the year came when the "Pooh Bears" once again qualified for the I.H.S.A. Sectional meet, finishing 5th at the Regional meet. At invitational competition the Eagles were crowned Rich

East Champions and finished 2nd at the S.I.C.A. North Conference meet. Top individual honors went to Anita Bellone and Kim Vavra as they were named to the All-Conference team and Anita was an All-Regional team member.

Runners endure pain, solitude to become champs

The highway stretched far into the horizon; a long band of ebony devoid of all life except for the lone figure in the distance.

Heart pounding and legs screaming for rest this figure, the runner, trudges on for many miles at a time, evading his enemies "I can't" and "it hurts". The runner is alone for one simple reason; no one else can endure or understand the painstaking battle he faces between mind and body. Others claim it is senseless.

Yet if they were true runners, they would realize it's not a battle but a dream. It is a dream to increase one's mental and physical stamina, but more importantly, it is a dream to win as an Eagle.

Sandburg Cross Country possesses that dream. And sustaining the grueling, sometimes rainy and muddy workouts and races, places them that much closer to fulfilling that dream, to be champions. Share it with them and be a harrier.

Not only did they win the conference meet, but they also went undefeated in dual meet conference competition. Heading the way for the Eagles were All Conference runners Marty, Chris Doyle, and Jeff Borys.

The Freshman-Sophomore Soccer team ended with a winning season. The combined efforts of team members earned them 8 wins and 7 losses. Led by Coach Hart, the boys played hard and enjoyed themselves in the newest sport offered at Sandburg.

The Eagle Soccer season was one that featured excellent individual performances. All-conference and sectional honorable mention fullback Mark Olson, and all-conference goal keeper Greg Gallman were certainly the main cogs of a rock-hard defense. Also contributing to anchor that defense were all-conference special mention Ralph Sellman, all-conference honorable mention Peter Follenweider, and all-conference Alan

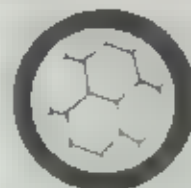

Drnec

Brian Mitchell, all-conference special mention, led our Eagles in goals scored, and outstanding achievement for a sophomore. The eagle defense posted two shutouts, including a 2-0 whitewash of Stagg H.S. in the I.H.S.A. tournament opener.

Head coach Brian Papa, in his initial season at the helm, is quick to point out that while he was naturally disappointed with the overall team record, his Eagles were no worse than one goal behind at haltime in seventeen of his team's nineteen games. Citing steady improvement and the continuing development of his underclassmen, Coach Papa's Eagles will continue to soar higher in the SICA West next year and for years to come.

Track and field has turned out many great champions this year. Goals were set and accomplished. Weeks of hard work and dedication paid off throughout the season.

Juniors and seniors stood proud, bringing home many hard-earned wins for the Varsity team.

Freshman and Sophomores, through struggle, defeat, and many victories made All-Conference champions — a title well-deserved.

Special recognition goes to Jane Schofield, who as a sophomore has shown excellent athletic potential. She has seen many wins in the past and looks for many more in the future.

Field events have often been underrated, but they are very much a part of Carl Sandburg

Many girls spend hours of time both working with weights and out on the field perfecting their skills.

There has been a great amount of talent discovered on the track and field team. With the help, concern, and determination of Coach Sheehan, Coach Rauch, and Coach Cook, this year's season has been a very memorable one.

Success in '84

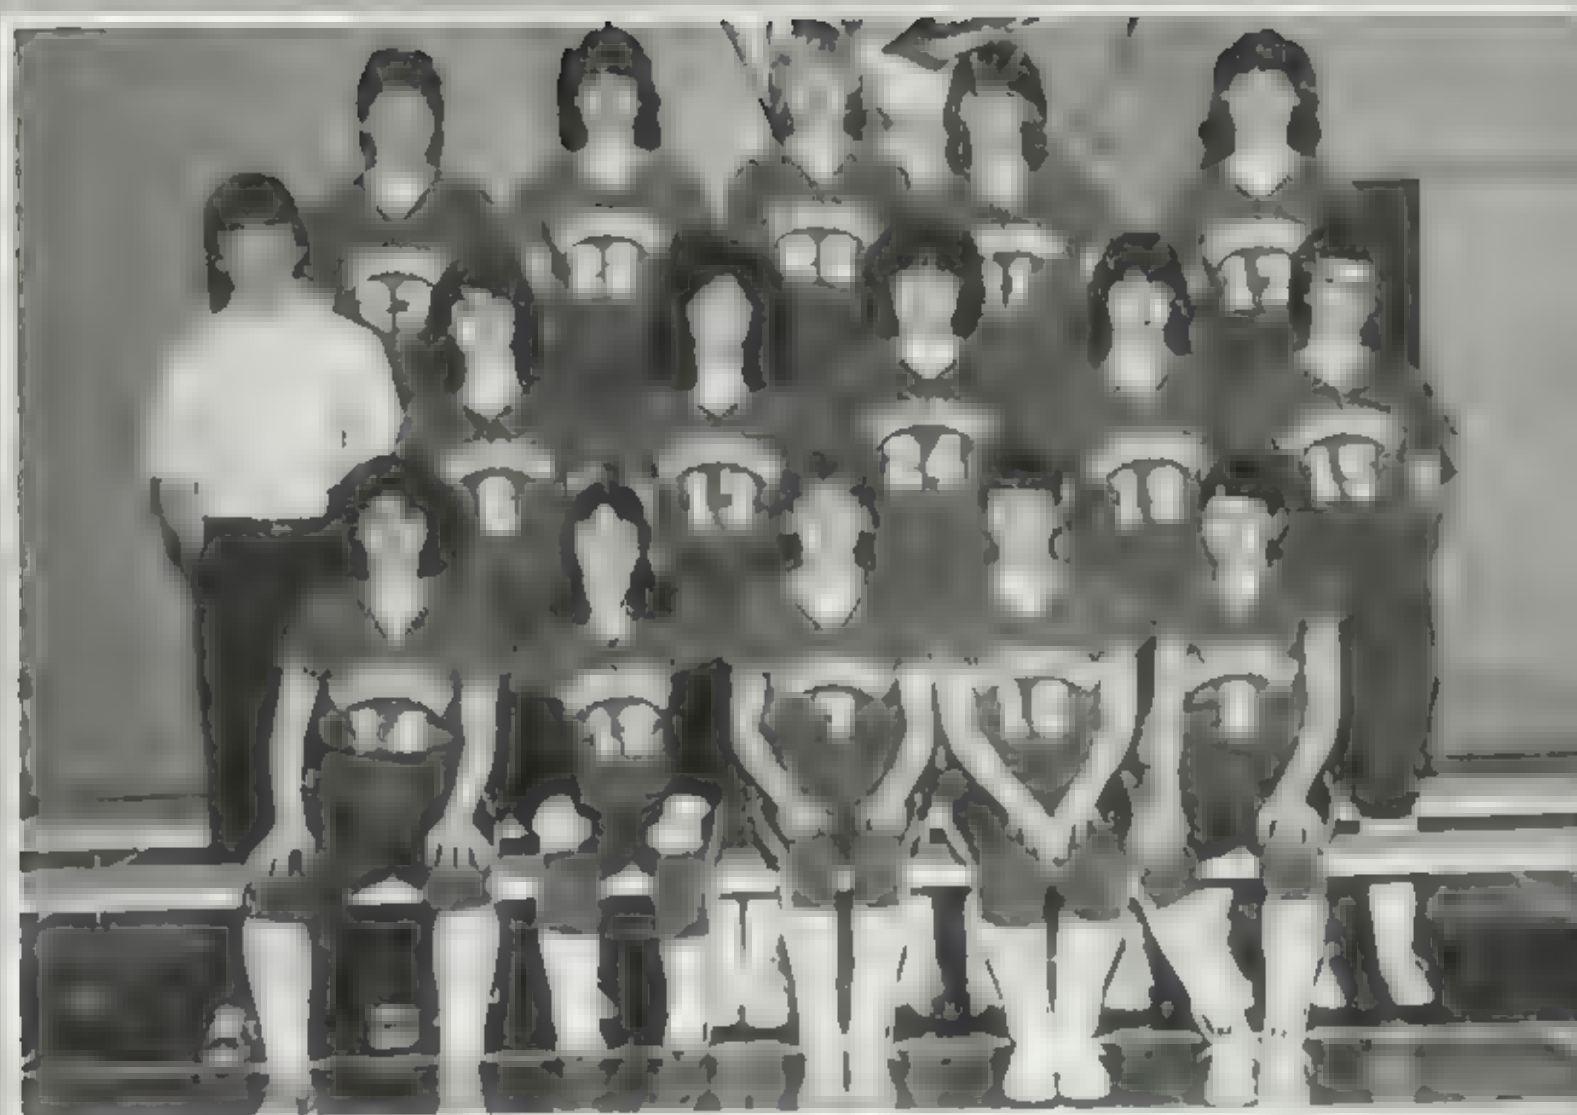

The Eagle Softball Team completed another very successful season in 1984. They posted a 19-7 win-loss record and finished in second place in the ICA North Conference. Good pitching and solid defense carried the Eagles through most of the season. The seniors from this team will be missed. They helped to establish a winning tradition for future Eagle softball teams. Four girls were elected to the all-conference team. Sheryl Sikstax and Patty Labedy were selected as infielders, and Maribeth Friebold as a pitcher. Debbie Marras was selected as an outfielder.

Sophomores Awesome

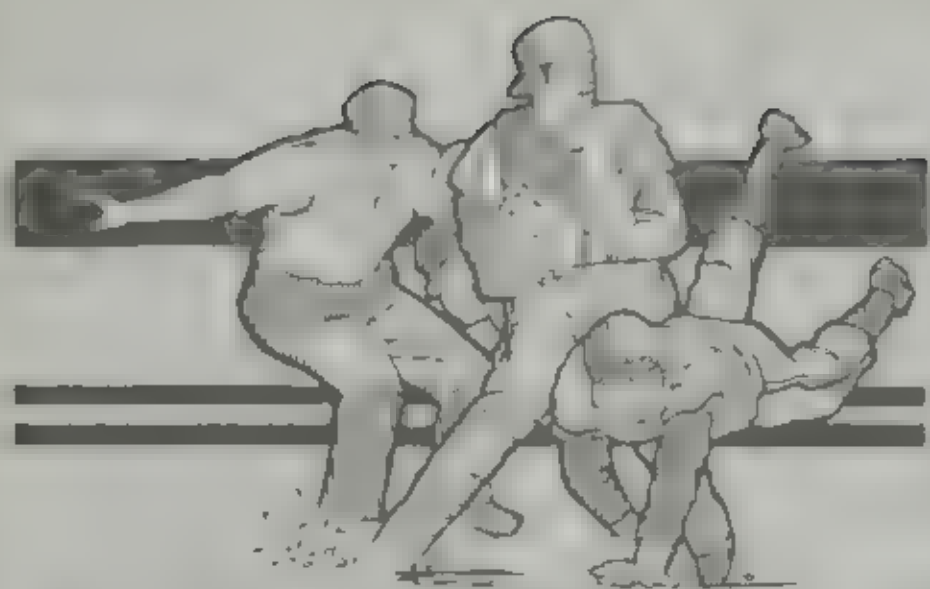

Our Girl's Sophomore Softball team finished the season with a 19 and 4 overall record. The Eagles won the S.I.C.A. North Conference, beating Reavis on the last day of the season in a hard-fought 5-4 contest. Sandburg's overall conference record was 11 and 1, with Reavis taking second place with a 10 and 2 record. Jenny Glovack finished the season with an outstanding pitching record of 19 wins and only 2 losses. Jenny and Gina Griesbach, the team's leading hitter, were voted the team's most valuable players by their teammates. Nicole Parthemore and Debbie Mattes played outstanding ball throughout the season, and were brought up to help the Varsity late in the season. Marsha Picard was brought up in mid-season and provided outstanding defense.

Overall, the girls had a great season, learning more about the game, playing to win, and having fun in the process.

Frosh-Soph Eagles
prime for Varsity play

Led by Jeff Parisi on the mound, the 1984 sophomore Eagle Baseball team managed to win in convention for the conference title until the last week of the season. Along with Parisi, Dee Stoneburner, Scott Csida and Parley turned in solid pitching performances. Consistently fine infield play by Jeff Earll and Stoneburner at third. Mike Moehler at short. Bob Curtis at second and Foley and Parisi at first gave ample support to the fine Eagle pitchers. Offensively, the Eagles managed to create problems for opponents with a potent lineup led by Curtis, Stoneburner, Parisi and Earll. Curtis also provided excitement on the base paths by using his speed to purloin bases and frustrate opposing batteries. No team can succeed without depth and versatility, and the Eagles were blessed with fine substitutes such as Greg Lecas as DH, Tom Pearl at third, Mark Gappa and Jim Rudsinski behind the plate, Ray Walsh in the outfield, Bill Marcordes in right field and as DH, and Bob Hammann on the mound and at first. The season closed with many sophomores proving themselves ready for varsity competition.

Eagerness, Spirit
keep Varsity coming

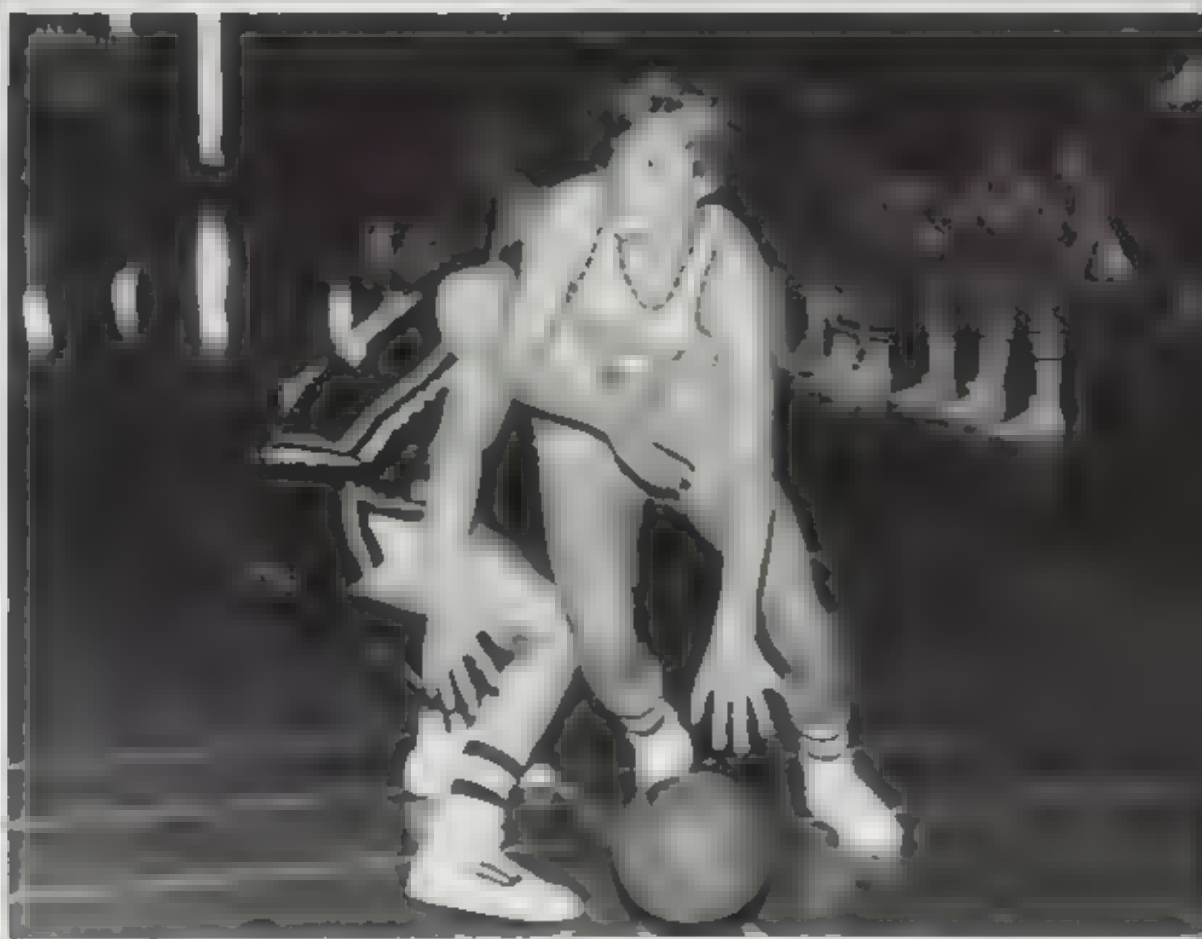

Although their record doesn't show it the Varsity Boy's Basketball team played a good season. The determination displayed by each team member kept the team to play action-packed games down to the last seconds. Having a rough start with a record of 4 and 15 the Eagles fought their way to a record of 3 - 4 in the S.I.C.A. North Conference

The part the Sandburg Cheerleading and Pon-pom squads play in athletics should always be remembered. At every game, win or lose, rain or shine, these girls smile, jump, and cavort while urging their team to victory. The cheerleaders travel to all away games, which means, that like the players, they must contend with doing homework late and keeping grades high. They never stop cheering for their teams, and consistently aim to get the audience involved by joining in on certain cheers. Their athletic ability makes them interesting and fun to watch during their cheers. The Pon-pom squad is also a favorite to watch. Accompanied by the marching band or records, these girls dance with grace and agility. The girls take turns making up routines and teaching them to the squad. Nothing deters this group of performers. Even during the worst weather, such as during the game against South Shore, these people remain true backers of all the Sandburg teams Junior year is a time when many important decisions must be made. It is a time to sit down and seriously consider future plans. It is a time for college entrance exams to be taken. Study time increases and good grades become a must. Pressure to succeed in school becomes even greater than before. To ease these pressures, however, there are many activities juniors become involved in. Juniors find time to join varsity teams, clubs, or express themselves artistically. Junior year is also a time of firsts. Finally, juniors can go to prom without being asked. If they missed out their sophomore year, they can purchase class rings. Most importantly, however, is that junior year is a step toward making decisions in education, career, and long-term goals.

Sophomores no longer have to worry about getting lost or asking directions. It is a year which should be spent enjoying school, without worrying about college entrance exams or future plans. Let the juniors worry about that. It is the time for making the grades, but making time for fun, too. Sophomores now have the opportunity to experiment and explore new-found areas of interest, it is time for them to make their marks. They are still not upperclassmen, but there are those who look up to them (freshmen). It is a time when students turn sweet 16, apply for jobs, and get their licenses. Just think - no more having your parents taking you to a dance and say, "I'll be back to pick you up at 10:00." For some, it is time for first dates and first loves, and others for getting involved in school activities and feeling part of the student body.

As a freshman enters high school for the first time, he/she feels a number of emotions. For some, fear is the dominant emotion. Surviving the first two days is a major task in itself. Lockers never work, classrooms can never be found and there seems to be a lot of big people around. Along with this fear, however, is excitement — the excitement of a new beginning. Sandburg offers a wide variety of activities and clubs, and many freshmen take advantage of them to develop new interests.

Freshmen also begin to take their first look into the future. Because Sandburg has so many different classes, freshmen often begin contemplating which classes they would like to take in future years, and which ones are necessary to help them achieve their goals. As their first year draws to a close, those nervous bennies have transformed into maturing young adults.

Sandburg has always been an excellent school, but over the last five years there has been additional improvement in physical facilities, quality of students, teachers, and administrators and organization of curriculum. One thing I'd like to see changed though is the students opportunity to take elective courses in the vocational area.

I think Sandburg is great and the students are the best but what I like most about Sandburg are the students, staff, and administration. The progress Sandburg has made has been good but we should just keep working to improve on it for the future students.

'One of the major differences in Sandburg's 1984 student body and that they are more compelled to question what a teacher says. This is what I like most about Sandburg along with the many supportive parents I've met. A major difference in the Foreign Languages Department is Vonna Panos, the new Spanish teacher and sponsor of AFS and Spanish Club.

"This year, the Guidance Department continued to operate with its specialization system. Each counselor has an area of responsibility in addition to working with his/her regular caseload of students, such as financial aid, vocation, outreach or testing. As a service to students, we do a lot of individual counseling as well as group work and we also offer several parent information nights covering topics such as college admission, post-high school options, and our honors program."

Home Economics classes prepare the woman and recently man for future careers. These classes include demonstrations in sewing, child care, and even marriage. The Adult Living classes conduct a mock-marriage complete with a tux and a white wedding dress.

Two big changes occurred in the Industrial Education department this year, the first was the final completion of our new facilities. The second big change was the addition of Mr. William Bavisha to our staff in the welding and metals program. His expertise helped us to greatly improve these areas of instruction."

When I first interviewed here, four years ago, I thought the building itself was very dismal, but it has been very encouraging to see it being transformed into a modern educational facility."

Physical Education is no longer merely an activity course at Sandburg. During this year, all students participated in the Wellness-Concepts Program. This curriculum is designed to make students aware of fitness, diet, and other healthy concepts in order to develop, if they so choose, a healthy lifestyle."

The Science Dept. made a big change in the facilities this year. Before, the science rooms were scattered in the North and South building but by moving them all to the South building we were able to create a central storage area and a department office."

A view of the nation - 1984

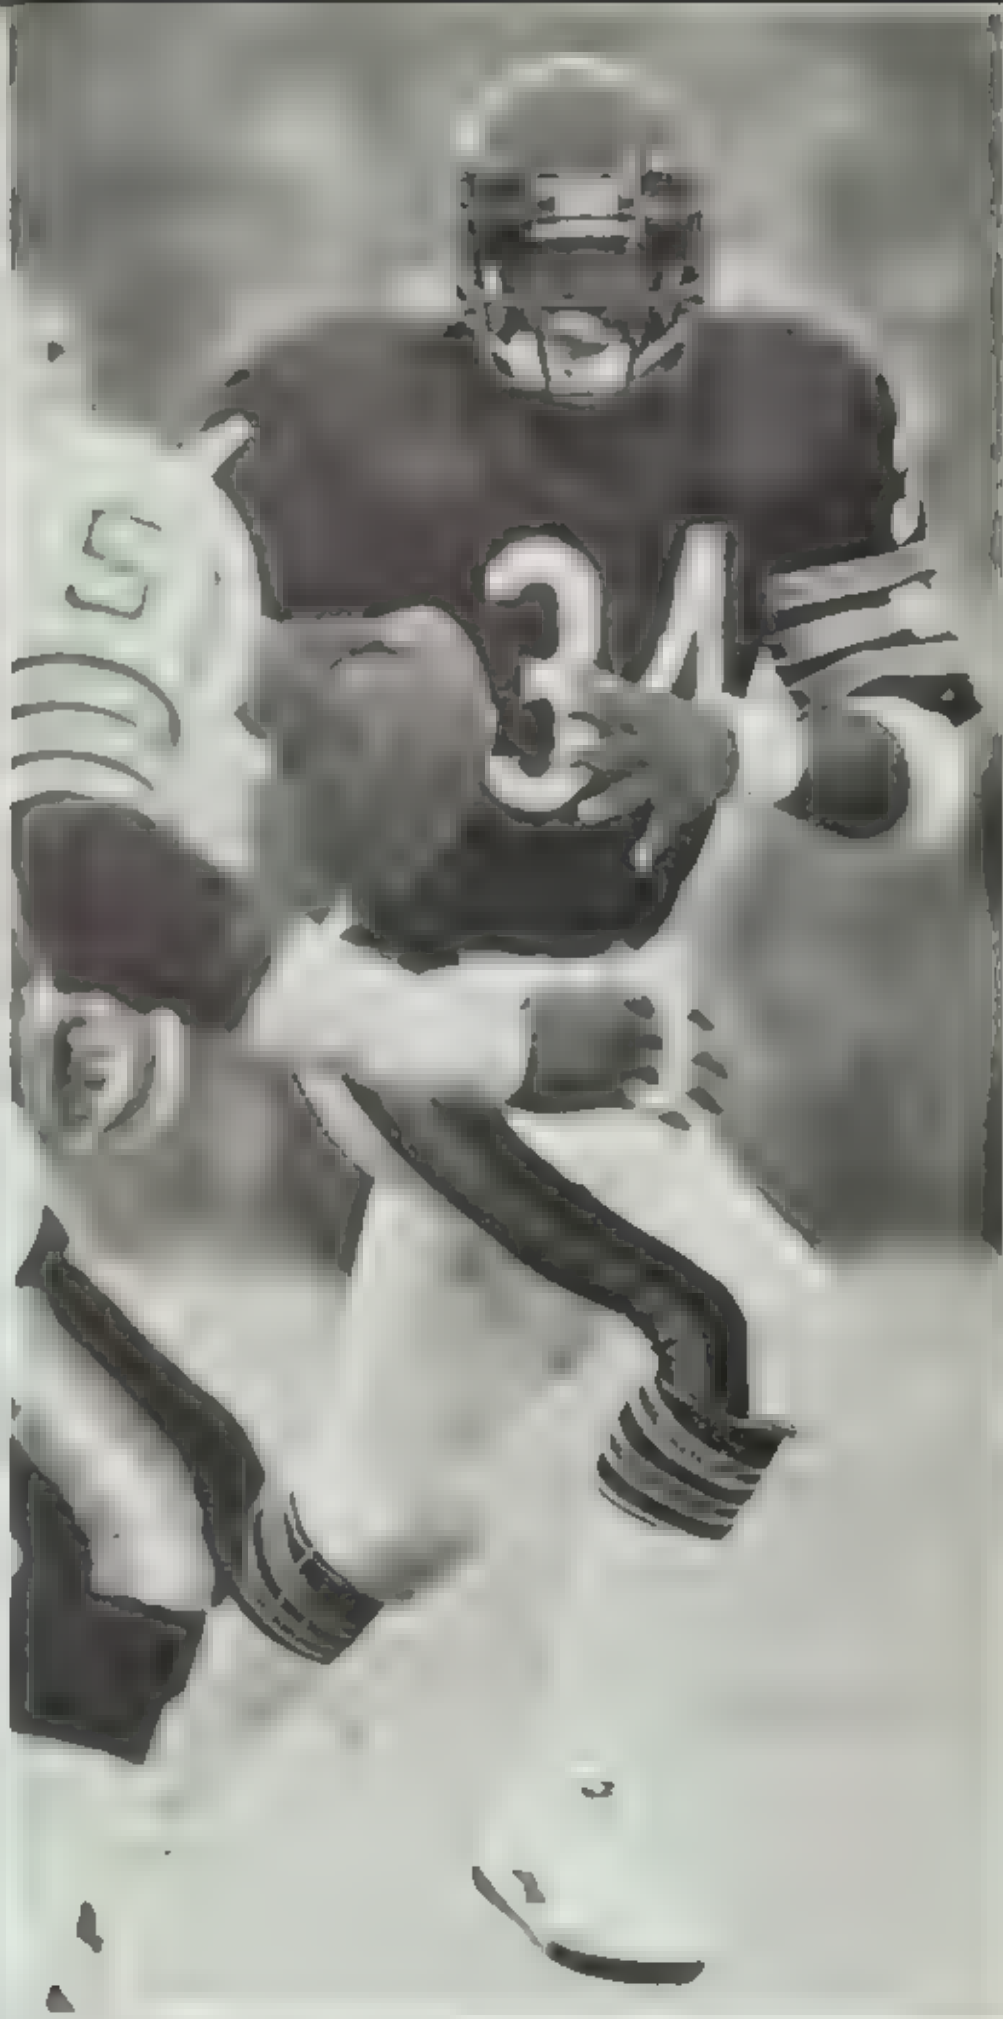

Mission specialist Bruce McCandless takes a walk in space in the early weeks of 1984. In the photo he is seen using the so-called manned maneuvering unit as he moved away from the Shuttle Challenger during the eight-day space mission.

WASHINGTON Jan. 21 — Ronald Reagan, President Ronald Reagan repeats the oath of office of the president as his wife Nancy holds the Bible during the ceremony under the Rotunda of the Capitol in Washington Monday. Chief Justice Warren Burger is at right.

Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale made history when he chose a woman, Geraldine Ferraro, as his running mate. Mondale and Ferraro were nominated on the Democratic convention in San Francisco in July

Thanks for the memories

Although this was a majority of the staff's first year, we developed the skills needed to put together a successful yearbook. The time we spent in the POB office was fulfilling. Collecting in five months a year full of memories for the entire student body gave a great feeling of accomplishment to those who worked on this production. We would like to thank these people:

Michelle Benig and Ethel Villeneuve for their contribution to the Clubs Section

Ma, Cast for taking time out from her busy schedule to help with the Faculty Section.

Mary Collins for her expertise in writing and many other contributions.

Sandie Golob for her assistance with the Senior and Events Section

Mary Ann Kim for her dedication to the Senior Section

Vicki and Patti Komar for their tremendous work on the Sports Section

Rose Lortz for her inventive design in the Fine Arts Section

Barb Manta and Katie Keller for their patience and help with the tedious underclassmen section.

Patti Somerville for her creativity and wit throughout the Senior and Fine Arts Sections

Lisa Vallet for her experience and ability to teach us the basic techniques needed for the yearbook

And Miss Corne as our advisor for her time and ability to make this job enjoyable.

We would also like to thank the coaches and club sponsors who were so cooperative and understanding in helping us meet our deadlines. And to more people than we can mention who helped us complete the yearbook, our sincerest appreciation. We hope all of our time and effort has captured the many memorable moments of 1984-85.
